1. An estimated 88% of Americans donated 390 billion dollars to charities in 2016? Another 25% of Americans donated their time to charity. Why do you think Americans donate more money and volunteer more time toward charity than every other country on earth?
2. As you get older, do you think you have a civic duty to give time and money to people less fortunate than you? Why? If you don't feel you have a civic duty, why not?
3. If you were that lucky individual who won 250 million dollars in the lottery, what would you do with that money? Be specific with your answer. If you were to help other people by using that money, who would you help and how?
